

Two young women are observing the demonstration. The woman on the left is wearing a black leather jacket with a white fur collar and has her hair in braids. She is holding a white card with text and a logo. The woman on the right is wearing a patterned shawl and a green skirt. They are both looking at the woman in the black blazer.

The woman in the black blazer is using a pipette to transfer liquid into a petri dish. She is holding a small white object in her other hand. The woman in the patterned shawl is holding a small notebook and a pen, appearing to be taking notes.

The woman in the black blazer is also looking at a microscope on the table. The microscope is a white and black compound microscope. There are several petri dishes on the table, some containing blue and yellow substances. There is also a blue pipette and a white pipette on the table.

A large poster is displayed on the table in the foreground. It features various logos and text, including the word "PILIVA" and "KSC". The logos include a blue circle with a white figure, a red circle with a white figure, and a blue circle with a white figure. The text is in a mix of Cyrillic and Latin characters.

A blue poster is also on the table. It has a white background with blue text and images. The text is in Cyrillic characters. There are several small images of people and objects on the poster.

A yellow paper bag is on the table. It has a white pattern of vertical lines and a white handle. The bag is partially filled with items.
